1) It is possible to attend English-taught courses only. Knowledge of the local language is only required if you also wish to take courses taught in that language. If you do not wish to do so, you will only need to produce proof of English language skills.

2) Since most courses are taught in Greek, it is appreciated if students write and speak in Greek. However, the faculty also accepts students who meet the required level in English. In addition, Erasmus+ students can earn ECTS credit points by writing assignments or essays in English.

3) Please note that the Free University of Bolzano/Bozen is trilingual. Basic proficiency in the language in which a course is taught is necessary.

4) The partner university does not require any specific proof of language proficiency. However, please bear in mind that your choice of courses will be limited by your lack of knowledge of the local language.

5) "A good command" is only required if you wish to take courses taught in Swedish.

6) For more detailed information, please consult the course catalogue at: http://www.ucy.ac.cy/sap/en/

7) The language of instruction is Turkish, but tutorials are offered in English and sometimes in German for all courses.

8) Language certificate via Altissia - French test (https://altissia.org/free-french-language-test/) & Altissia - English test (https://altissia.org/free-English-language-test/)

9) No specific language certificate is required, but students must have the necessary level to be able to attend lessons and write exams.
