

The Faculty of Medicine of the Goethe University Frankfurt am Main and the University Hospital Frankfurt, Department for Psychiatry, Psychosomatic Medicine and Psychotherapy (Director: Professor Dr. med. A. Reif), invites applications for the following position as public employe starting at the earliest possible date:

Professor (W2) of Suicidology and Suicide Prevention

The main duties of this professorship are to strengthen the Department, the focus on suicide research and prevention within the Department of Psychiatry, Psychosomatics and Psychotherapy. In particular, this includes clinical research as well as psychopharmacological approaches; proven clinical and scientific expertise in these areas is therefore required. In addition, you will be expected to further develop and implement public health approaches, especially in the area of suicide prevention. This will be done in close cooperation with the "Stiftung Deutsche Depressionshilfe und Suizidprävention" (German Depression Aid and Suicide Prevention Foundation) as well as other regional and national partners and is supported by funding from the Reiss Foundation, the Henryk Sznep Foundation and the Crespo Foundation. You should have experience in these fields, as well as leading positions in relevant professional societies. The Department of Psychiatry, Psychosomatics and Psychotherapy at Frankfurt University Hospital offers a dynamic, research-oriented environment with a wide range of clinical and scientific opportunities, as well as a young, cooperative and motivated team. The clinic is a partner in many national and international research networks; active participation in these is highly desired.

We are looking for a candidate with a high level of scientific qualification (completed studies in Human Medicine, doctorate, "Habilitation" or proof of equivalent scientific achievements, which may also have been achieved within the framework of a junior professorship or outside the university sector) with an international publication track record, successful acquisition of third-party funding, proof of effective and modern teaching skills and further training experience, a high level of scientific commitment as well as completed training (board certificate; "Facharzt" recognized by the Medical Association of Hesse) in the field of psychiatry and psychotherapy. You will be expected to participate in close, interdisciplinary cooperations in research, teaching and clinical practice. You should take over clinical tasks, e.g., in the field of indicated and selective suicide prevention.

The formal hiring requirements are defined in sections 67, and 68 of the Hessian Higher Education Act (Hessisches Hochschulgesetz).

Goethe University is an equal opportunity employer, committed to diversity and inclusion. In particular, we are welcoming applications by qualified women and people with a migration background. At Goethe University, a special emphasis is placed on creating and sustaining a family-friendly work and research environment. Where applicants are otherwise equally qualified, preference is given to candidates with disabilities or equivalent. The same applies to women in fields in which they are under-represented.
